

Designed for Leaders in Need of Practical, Expert Support

Middle market, nonprofit, and small business leaders rely on Stanton Blackwell to operationalize their strategies with fast, measurable results.

Because we recruit seasoned experts from leading companies with impressive "been there, done that" track records, our clients get the kind of real-world, actionable guidance that junior-led teams can't possibly provide.

Go from vision to reality

Founders Carmen Oviedo and Anne Gehring built Stanton Blackwell to help organizations remove the operational barriers to achieving their goals.

Leaders appreciate our uncommon approach of quickly and permanently solving operational problems in support of maximizing results.

When an organization reaches an inflection point, the realization hits, further success will be much harder without excellence in the business support functions.
